1 1/2 oz Galliano
Ice cubes
Fill with Coca-Cola
Float 2 tbs. Heavy cream on top

Serve in: Unknown glass type

Mixing instructions:

Mix Galliano, Coca-Cola and ice. Float cream on top by pouring over the back of a spoon which is just touching the top of the Coke mixture.

Ruby Relaxer

1 shot Peach schnapps
1 shot Vodka
1 shot Malibu rum
fill glass with Pineapple juice
splash in Cranberry juice

Serve in: Cocktail glass.

Mixing instructions:

Combine shots of peach schnapps, vodka and Malibu rum. Fill glass almost to top with pineapple juice and splash in cranberry juice for a touch o' color.

Old-Fashioned Rum and Coke

4 oz Rum (Bacardi)
8 oz Soda (Coca-Cola)

Serve in: Old-fashioned glass.

Mixing instructions:

For an extra kick, use Bacardi 151. If you want a lime taste, use Bacardi Limon.

Sangria #1

- 1 bottle Red wine
- 1/2 cup Sugar
- 1 cup Orange juice
- 1 cup Lemon juice
- Cloves
- Cinnamon , sticks

Mixing instructions:

Mix all together and put in the refrigerator till cold. Add cloves and cinnamon sticks to taste.

Sangria #2

- 1.5 l Cabernet sauvignon
- 1 cup Sugar
- 3-4 oz plain Brandy
- 1 Lemon , large, sliced
- 1 Orange , large, sliced
- 1 Apple , large, cut into thin sections.

Mixing instructions:

Mix these altogether in a large container, stir, and let sit for 18-24 hours. Yes, I know that's a LONG time, but it's well worth the wait. A much more delightful sangria is produced when the fruit juice blends with the wine by osmosis than by stirring. (By the way, you should let it sit in the refrigerator during this long interim). When you are ready to drink it 18-24 hours later, stir it up again, and add sugar or brandy to taste, it should be fairly strong and fairly sweet, almost syrupy. Then, cut the mixture with some sort of bubbly water, orange or lemon flavored if possibly, but plain bubbly water is fine, until it seems to have a thinner, more wine like consistency. Drink and enjoy.

Screaming Orgasm

- 1 oz Vodka
- 1 1/2 oz Bailey's Irish cream
- 1/2 oz Kahlua

Serve in: Cocktail glass.

Mixing instructions:

Pour first vodka, then Bailey's, then Kahlua into a cocktail glass over crushed ice. Stir. Caution: use only high quality vodka. Cheap vodka can cause the Bailey's to curdle. Test your brand of vodka by mixing 1 Tsp each of vodka and Bailey's first.

Screaming Orgasm II

- 1 shot Amaretto
- 1 shot Bailey's Irish cream
- 1 shot Vodka

Serve in: Old-fashioned glass.

Mixing instructions:

Stir together and serve over ice

Screaming Multiple Orgasm

2/3 oz. Orange liqueur
2/3 oz. Bailey's Irish cream
1/2 oz. Galliano or cream
1 oz. Milk

Mixing

When using a cocktail shaker there is one golden rule to remember. Always put the ice in the shaker first, and the liquor last. This is to ensure that all ingredients are properly chilled by the ice when they are poured over the ice, and by adding the liquor last you reduce the chance of dilution.

Stirring

A drink that is stirred instead of shaken will retain its clarity and be free of ice chips. Drinks based on clear liquors, like a Martini, should always be stirred and not shaken (don't listen to James Bond when he order his Martini "shaken, not stirred").

When stirring a cocktail you should stir it enough to mix the ingredients, but not stir it too much. If you stir too much the ice will begin to dilute the liquor. A general rule is that 10-15 stirs will be sufficient for proper mixing. A drink containing carbonated beverage(s) should be stirred gently and briefly to retain the sparkle.

Shaking

Instead of stirring, you can shake the drink. This will mix the ingredients more than stirring, but will also result in a less clear drink. Drinks that contain ingredients that are hard to mix, such as cream, fruit juices and eggs, should be shaken vigorously to ensure that the ingredients has been well mixed.

Blending

Use an electric blender to mix fresh fruit, liquor, juices and ice instead of using a shaker. Not too popular everywhere, but perfect for making frozen cocktails or to blend ingredients that are otherwise impossible to mix.

Floating

The purpose of floating is to keep each ingredients in the drink in separate layers that do not mix with the others. This will create a drink with separate layers, and this is why floating often is referred to as layering. The easiest way to float one liquor on top of another is to use a demitasse spoon, holding it over or in the glass and slowly trickle the ingredient over the back of the spoon.

Muddling

Muddling is a simple mashing technique for grinding herbs, such as mint, smooth in the bottom of a glass. You can use a wooden muddler that you buy in a bar supply store or buy a bar spoon with a muddler on the end. It crushes the herbs, much as the back of a soup spoon might, without scarring the glass.

Frosting

To frost a glass, first dip it in water and then put it in the freezer for half an hour or so. Also note that metal and silver mugs and cups will frost better than glasses.
